The Story Continues!

Luke isn't finished yet. St. Luke, that is. He told the story of Jesus – from his birth to Mary and Joseph to his death, resurrection, and ascension in Jerusalem – in the book we call, appropriately enough, The Gospel According to Luke. But there's still more to tell, as the story of Jesus' meaning and mission continues through the ministry of his disciples. And so Luke wrote a second book that is also part of our New Testament. It's called The Acts of the Apostles, and we will read and preach on it across the summer months.

If The Gospel of Luke tells the story of Jesus and his ministry, Acts tells the story of the Church and its mission to share the good news of Jesus throughout the world. The story begins, like the Gospel, with a brief dedication to a member of Luke's church named Theophilus. We don't know for sure who he is, but his name in Greek means "Lover of God," and he may have been a recent convert to the Christian faith, member of Luke's community, and his patron or sponsor, the one who supported him while he worked on this Gospel.

After addressing himself once more to Theophilus, Luke then provides a little bit of overlap with the Gospel by telling the story of Jesus' Ascension. Which means we hear this story twice... and they aren't exactly the same. Which is okay, as Luke tells the story one way to wrap up his Gospel and tells it another as he prepares us to witness the faith of those early Christians and the growth of the Church.

Which is exactly what Acts is about – the faith and courage, failures and arguments – of Jesus' earliest disciples. But even more, Acts is about how God's spirit – the Spirit of the Risen Christ – continues to animate and strengthen the disciples, to offer their testimony in word and deed, despite very real fears of resistance and even persecution. It is not, we should be clear, a story of one success after another. The disciples make mistakes, have disagreements, and weather controversy. But despite the shortcomings and limitations of those who bear the message of Christ, the church still grows and more and more come to faith and hope in Jesus' name.

One of the key words in this story is a Greek word pronounced "a-ko-loo-toce," which means freely and without hindrance. It crops up a couple of times, for instance when an Ethiopian eunuch, about the last person in the world you'd expect to join the church, asks a skeptical disciple if there's anything that should hinder him from being baptized. It comes up a few other times, too, including the last sentence of the last chapter of the book. Indeed, it is the very last word St. Luke writes. By this time in the story, Paul has been imprisoned several times and now sent to Rome and awaiting trial. He is under house arrest, and Luke reports, closing Acts by writing, "He lived there for two whole years at his own expense and welcomed all who came to him, proclaiming the kingdom of God and teaching about the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness and without hindrance" (Acts 28-30-31).

Now what's interesting to me about Luke's ending is that we know from history and church tradition that at the end of these two years, the Apostle will eventually be tried, found guilty, and executed. And Luke probably knew this. But he doesn't tell it. Why? Because while Paul is often considered "the second founder of Christianity" because of the churches he started and the influence of his preaching and writing, the story doesn't end here, either. The story continues even up to this day and age. Each time we gather for worship to hear the good news of Christ through Scripture, song, and sermon, we are empowered by the Spirit that descended upon the first disciples at Pentecost and leave strengthened in faith and prepared to love our neighbor and care for the world God created, sustains, and still loves. Each time we leave worship, that is, we are sent to continue to share the message of God's love in Jesus through our words and actions.

So there it is. St. Luke writes two whole books of the Bible, the first about the life of Jesus, which we read from December through May, and the second about the growth of the early church, which we will be reading and preaching all summer. And yet there is still more story to tell, and we get to write it each and every day in and through our life in the Spirit at Mount Olivet. Pretty cool! I look forward to seeing what God's Spirit will do to us and with us and through us, and I look forward to telling that story with you in our words and deeds.

See you in Church!

Summer Sermon Series: The Acts of the Apostles

This summer we will read through St. Luke's second book, The Acts of the Apostles, that tells the story of the coming of the Holy Spirit and the growth of the early church through the witness of the Apostles. We read this story not only to learn more about the history of the Christian Church, but also so that we can see how God is at work in and through us as well, because the same Holy Spirit that called, emboldened, and sent those first-century disciples is at work calling, emboldening, and sending Jesus' twenty-first century disciples as well. To give you a sense of what is to come in the story Luke continues tell, here are the readings from Acts for June, along with a question or two to get you thinking!

June 2: Acts 1:12-26 – The Choosing of Matthias

Having lost Judas, the company of twelve disciples is incomplete, and so they choose Matthias, another follower of Jesus, to fill his place.

How might God fill the gaps we experience and equip us to overcome disappointment and setback?

June 9: Acts 2:1-21 – The Story of Pentecost

After waiting for a number of weeks in Jerusalem at Jesus' command, the Holy Spirit comes with a rush of wind and flame. But rather than simply comforting the fearful disciples, the Spirit sends them back out into the world that crucified their Lord to witness with courage and compassion to God's continued love for the world.

How might God be equipping us to conquer our fears and witness to God's grace?

June 16: Acts 2:37-47 – Life Among the Believers

The early church grows by leaps and bounds, but it is not without struggle. Noticeably, what marked the life of those earliest believers was trust that God would provide and a willingness to share in order to meet each other's needs.

What is God equipping us to do?

What challenges do we have to overcome?

What can we share with each other to live into God's dreams for us?

June 23: Acts 4:1-22 – Peter and John Before the Council

Many receive the word of Jesus' resurrection with joy. But not all. And so the disciples very quickly experience resistance. Rather than be discouraged, they seize the opportunity to witness their faith.

How might we see challenges and setbacks also as opportunities to trust in God's grace and witness our faith?

June 30: Acts 5:1-11 – Ananias and Sapphira

Just in case we think all is harmony and bliss in the early church, we have a story of disappointment and tragedy, when those who struggle to trust in God's provision and share God's blessings are caught up quite short.

How do we overcome the temptation to hoard, rather than share, God's blessings in our everyday lives?

DEVOTIONS

So those who welcomed his message were baptized, and that day about three thousand persons were added. They devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers. Awe came upon everyone, because many wonders and signs were being done by the apostles. All who believed were together and had all things in common. - ACTS 2:42-44

When I look around at all you wonderful people that I've spent the majority of my life with, I stand in awe of God's amazing grace and goodness. Most of us became so deeply rooted in this imperfect place we call home—simply by showing up to help: in the kitchen, the parking lot, the classroom, the choir loft, the garage sale, at camp. We showed up seeking fun and friends and fellowship, and then God showed up and gave us faith. And hope. And love. And FAMILY.

Our dear friend Matt went to see Jesus last month. We grieve his loss. We grew up here together, we love his parents and his siblings and his children. It hurts.

Yet in the midst of it all, God has been present in all the people that surround his family. I received a text from his son Aaron the day after he died:

"I forgot to tell you that the doctor working with my dad when he passed was a former JS woman from 2001, how about that! She said she saw a post on a JS Facebook group by you but couldn't say anything because he was her patient. We sang 'My God and I' and 'Precious Lord' and said the Lord's Prayer as a family before he passed. I put the picture that you brought of the camp altar on his chest. He would've liked that."

It gives me goosebumps every time I read it. Another generation, showing up to help, given faith and hope and love.

"Great is thy faithfulness, oh God our Father...all I have needed thy hand hath provided, great is thy faithfulness, Lord unto me."

Mary Knutson Speaks About Her Award-Winning Memoir

Come and hear Mary speak about her book Maja and Me: My Journey with My Lesbian Daughter, and engage in discussion. This is a story of heartfelt honesty that includes not only times of confusion, pain, rejection, challenge, and anger, but also faith, pride, healing, victory, and love. Unusual in that the book is written from the mom's point of view, we travel with Mary as she moves from surprise and disbelief to accepting and embracing her daughter's identity and partner. For anyone seeking greater understanding, this award-winning, deeply rich story is a good place to start.

To gain the most from the discussion that evening, you are encouraged to read the book ahead of time. Books for this event and for Pastor Judith Mattison's discussion of her memoir, I Will Not Break on July 16, can be purchased on Amazon, many local bookstores, from Carol Throntveit, carolt@mtolivet.org, or at the event.

THE PARABLES OF JESUS

Midweek Summer Worship 2019

7984 257TH ST W, FARMINGTON, MN 55024

“Tell all the truth, but tell it slant.” These words, from a poem by Emily Dickinson, seem to describe Jesus’ favorite way of teaching: parables. Through parables and short stories, Jesus offered his listeners a glimpse into the kingdom of God.

But oftentimes these parables were met with confusion. Even today, the meanings of these stories can be challenging to understand and apply to our daily lives. Join our pastors each Wednesday evening from June 19 to August 7 as they explore some of Jesus’ parables they find most intriguing, challenging, and potentially life-changing. Enjoy fellowship, great food, time in nature, and inspirational worship! Bus transportation will be available from both campuses and 7500 York.

Ask A Pastor!

Pastor Helgen answers some of our Sunday School participants' questions about faith, what it's like being a pastor, and more!

Q: What is your favorite part of being a pastor? (Quinn, 4th grade)

A: Dear Quinn, There are lots of favorite parts of being a pastor. I like getting to know people and hear their stories and learn what inspires them. I find it's an honor and privilege to walk with people through their joys and sorrows. I like reading the Bible and preaching and helping others think about the ways that God shows up in the world!

Q: What did Jesus and God find to eat when they were down on Earth? (Jerzie, 3rd grade)

A: Hi, Jerzie. I love your question about what Jesus ate during his life! Luke's Gospel contains many stories of Jesus gathering with people around meals. Some of my favorites are the story of Jesus feeding the 5000 (Luke 9:10-17), the story of the Last Supper (Luke 22:14-38), and the story of Jesus breaking bread with his disciples after he's been resurrected (Luke 24: 36-43). So, some things that Jesus ate are: bread, fish, and wine.

Q: What is your favorite ice cream? (Aisley, 3rd grade)

A: Hi, Aisley. My favorite kind of ice cream is chocolate and I like to put gummy bears in it, too.

Q: How did God create earth? (William, 4th grade)

A: Dear William – God created earth by speaking! You can read the story of creation in Genesis 1. It's a pretty cool story that teaches us about all the ways God wants to be in relationship – with humans and animals and rivers and streams and lakes and mountains and all parts of creation. God hopes that we will care for creation. Check it out!

Q: Do you have to read the whole Bible before you get your job? (Griffin, 3rd grade)

A: You don't! I haven't read the WHOLE Bible, but I've read lots of it. I like that it's a book that stays with us our entire lives. There are stories in there still waiting to be discovered!

Q: Is it hard to study religions? (AJ, 3rd grade)

A: I find it very interesting to study religion and world religions. I have spent most of my time studying our Lutheran tradition, but in college I learned about other world religions – we studied Buddhism, Hinduism, and Islam. I appreciate learning the different ways we come to understand God and our relationship to God. Being a person of faith helps us make sense of the world we live in and how we care for one another.

Thanks to all for your questions!

Mount Olivet Lutheran Church and its six affiliated ministries are grateful to receive support through memorials, tributes, general gifts, and estate gifts. These gifts provide much-needed financial support for programs that enhance the lives of people served and for budgeted operating expenses.

Memorial gifts are a wonderful way to remember family members and friends who have died. Making a gift is a meaningful way to express our sympathy. Gifts given "in honor of" someone are a great way to celebrate special occasions like baptisms, weddings, and anniversaries. The tribute makes the people involved feel very special and pleased that the gift benefits Mount Olivet church.

Every gift given "in memory of" or "in honor of" is acknowledged with a thank you letter. Donor requests to notify someone of their gift are always fulfilled. Envelopes for gifts are available in the church office.

REALM

Have you created an account yet?

In September of 2018, we transitioned to a new membership login experience called Realm. This login experience allows you to do many things such as access the online directory, find groups to join or communicate with the people in the groups you are already a part of, schedule giving, and register for events.

With 2019, nearly halfway through, Mount Olivet wants to highlight a few of the different areas that we think will allow you to use this tool better.

ONLINE REGISTRATION. Realm features a calendar of events to show you what's happening at Mount Olivet and allows you to register for certain events right there! While you are logged in you are able to easily find events you and your family are interested in attending with just a few clicks. REMINDER: Realm is not supported on the browser Internet Explorer, but should work with the main browsers such as Chrome, Firefox, and Safari.

SCHEDULED GIVING. When we moved to Realm, we were unable to transfer your payment information for security reasons. If you have not already done so we are asking that you set up new scheduled giving payments through your Realm account.

USING THE ONLINE DIRECTORY. Realm offers an online directory of Realm account holders. In order for you to share your contact information online with members of our congregation, you must create a Realm account. If you have a Realm account and want to share your contact information, please update your privacy settings. When logged into your Realm account please click on your name and select Manage Privacy from the dropdown menu.

UPLOADING A PHOTO. The pastors at Mount Olivet want to get to know you, and the best way to do that is to upload your photo! Accessing your "My Profile" page by clicking on the arrow next to your name. Then click on the big circle on the blue banner with your name and upload a profile picture.

*“Tell all the truth, but tell it slant.” These words, from a poem by Emily Dickinson, seem to describe Jesus’ favorite way of teaching: parables. Through parables and short stories, Jesus offered his listeners a glimpse into the kingdom of God. But oftentimes these parables were met with confusion. Even today, the meanings of these stories can be challenging to understand and apply to our daily lives.
